

World tour presents Maharishi's Vedic Defence Technology

In 2008 government and military leaders in countries around the world – including South Korea, Germany, Denmark, and Georgia – were introduced to Maharishi's Vedic Defence Technology. The possibility of invincible defence, and achieving permanent world peace through groups of Yogic Flying experts, received extensive media coverage in many countries (see examples on pages 11 and 12).

Colonel Günter Chassé, Deputy Minister of Defence in the Global Country of World Peace, and retired German Army officer with 40 years of decorated military experience, visited many countries in last year's tour. He made presentations to leaders in the government and military, as well as to scientists, and provided them with DVDs and other materials about Maharishi's Invincible Defence Technology. Maharishi has brought a revolution in the field of defence, says Colonel Chassé. "He has put defence on a completely new level, which is to avert the danger of military conflict and war before they arise. This new strategy is based on Invincibility: it is based on strength, coherence, and strong integrated national consciousness. The technology to achieve this is the Transcendental Meditation and TM-Sidhi programme, including Yogic Flying," he explained.

"This new strategy is to raise the level of collective consciousness in the nation, and radiate an influence of coherence and peace to other nations," he continued, "We are unified at our common source, the Unified Field of Natural Law. No nation benefits from harming another; therefore, the danger is best averted before it arises."

In particular, Colonel Chassé presented three levels of benefit for military personnel: stress reduction and development of full brain potential for the individual; relief from anxiety, depression, and post traumatic stress disorder for war veterans; and the decrease of societal tensions, the breeding ground for crime and terrorism.

Germany

As reported in Issue 6, 2008 of Transcendental Meditation News, Colonel Chassé, gave talks in major cities throughout Germany in 2008, including at the Centre of Military Leadership Training, the Institute of Peace Research and Security Policy of the University of Hamburg, the University of the Armed Forces in two major cities, and to leaders of the Federal Association of Reserve Forces.

He describes how, through the course of each meeting, the officials became increasingly open and positive. One, he recounted, was enthusiastic from the beginning, calling the programme "so scientific and profound" and immediately scheduling another meeting for his associates. He told Colonel Chassé that this approach was very timely and much needed.

"This is the royal path to defence that brings Invincibility by changing the enemy into a friend, averting the danger before it arises," –Colonel Chassé

A professor was particularly interested in a DVD featuring Dr John Hagelin, renowned quantum physicist, speaking on Unified Field-based Defence (see synopsis PAGES 7-10). He watched it with full attention during the meeting, and a second time immediately following the meeting. He reported to Colonel Chassé that the presentation had not only taught him about Maharishi's peace-creating technologies: it had given him new insights into the field of physics as well. Another professor was so fascinated that he prepared further questions which were relayed to Dr Hagelin, and to which Dr Hagelin responded immediately.

Raja of Invincible Germany, Emanuel Schiffgens, has sent 3,000 copies of the same DVD to government officials and senior military personnel, key public leaders, and wealthy individuals in Germany. The cover letter notes that the armed forces have not yet found the answer to today's threats of weapons of mass destruction, terrorism, and suicide bombers and calls upon military leaders to utilise the technology of the Unified Field for invincible national defence.

Colonel Günther Chassé, retired German Army officer with 40 years of decorated military experience, presented Maharishi's Invincible Defence Technology to military and government leaders and scientists in Denmark, Germany, South Korea, and Georgia in 2008.

Accompanied by Dr Sarina Grosswald, a specialist in stress related disorders, and neuroscientist Dr Alarik Arenander, Director of the Brain Research Institute at Maharishi University of Management in the USA, Colonel Chassé presented Transcendental Meditation to the director of a military hospital as a means to alleviate post-traumatic stress disorder. Dr Arenander gave a live demonstration of brainwave coherence during the practice of Transcendental Meditation, after which the military doctors commented that they themselves, and the nurses, should be the first to learn the technique.

Colonel Chassé, expressed his heartfelt gratitude to Maharishi for restoring the technology for invincible defence, and world peace. "This is the royal path to defence that brings Invincibility by changing the enemy into a friend, averting the danger before it arises," Colonel Chassé concluded.

Denmark

Colonel Chassé also spoke with many top military leaders, top medical doctors, and faculty heads of military academies in Denmark. His presentations emphasised that a group of 250 Danish soldiers practising Yogic Flying together could dissolve societal stress and eliminate negativity, violence, crime, and terrorism within the nation.

He reports that after each presentation, the military leaders asked for more information and almost all recommended other contacts they thought should hear about this programme.

Commenting on the tour, Raja of Invincible Denmark, Bjarne Landsfeldt, said the tour was highly successful, due in large part to Colonel Chassé's military credentials.